Local Technology Group Helps Rebuild New Orleans

Florida, New York — September 8, 2009

SJA Technologies Group and Roger McKelvey joined with some of its Microsoft Partners, at the 1st annual “Day of Giving” to help with the continued rebuilding of New Orleans.

Working in Conjunction with Habitat for Humanity and Projects with Purpose, the partners framed houses for the Musicians Village in the 9th Ward. The project was one of several, local projects Microsoft Partners volunteered for before starting their annual week-long conference for small businesses from around the world.

“SJA Technologies was founded on the principles of helping small businesses succeed. Coming down here and volunteering in this way reinforced that for us in a different type of helping”, said Roger Mc Kelvey, President of SJA Technologies. “We had a great experience, that none of us will forget anytime soon.”

SJA Technologies delivers professional, computer consulting services to small and medium sized businesses in New York, New Jersey & Southern Connecticut. SJA Technologies specializes in network design and implementation, software installation, hardware upgrades, troubleshooting and maintenance, and repair and on-site support and advice for businesses.
